Our Farm

Using conventional production practices, Capay Valley Vineyards uses various seasonal employees and labor contractors to cultivate wine grapes on 15 acres of land.

Tom, originally from Gloversville, NY and Pam, originally from Bippus, IN have produced a variety of wines at their Capay Valley Vineyards. Wine lovers can enjoy Syrah, Viognier, Tempranillo, and Cabernet Sauvignon wines.

Distribution of Product

Capay Valley Vineyards distributes the majority of their wines to wholesalers, such as Villa Italia-San Francisco, Serendipity-TX, Charmer-

NYC. However, consumers can find Capay Valley Vineyards' wines through retailers such as Nugget Markets, Corti Brothers, Sacramento Natural Food Coop, Davis Coop and Valley Wine. In addition, the wines are available directly from the winery.

For consumers looking for an evening of fine dining, they can enjoy Capay Valley Vineyards' wines at local restaurants such as Morrisons and Thai Recipes. In the bay area Delucchi, Pomelo, Lafolie, and Angelino's.

Joys of Farming

Here at Capay Valley Vineyards, we enjoy following the whole process through the seasons, from dormant plants to harvesting the grapes, through to wine production. When we hold the bottle of wine in our hands, we know we have touched every vine that contributed to that bottle.

Challenges of Farming

The greatest challenges we face today are marketing our wines, expanding our facilities and spreading the word about Capay Valley Vineyards.
